2. Scope and Intent of Expression of Interest (EOI)

Journalism & Mass Communication, MOOC Studio & Virtual Studio CCTV Security & Auditorium: - Journalism, in its wider sense, includes reporting and commentaries delivered on television and radio. Even news events and film documentaries come within the scope of journalism. The editors, and the reporters working for television, radio or film industry claim that when they deal with news and views, they too are as much covered by the term “the Press” as people belonging to the print media. The vast mass communication jobs in different areas like Newspapers, journals, advertising films, radio, production houses, publication houses and Television are enough to fascinate any student towards taking up this course vis-à-vis others. Apart from number of jobs, the challenge, creative satisfaction and good remuneration package that these jobs are some of the other factors for the students to move towards it. Plus, if one wants name and fame this is the best field.

Although digitalization is a must now, there are many nations that are unable to provide the basic necessities to enrol for MOOCs hence the spread of MOOCs are limited. It is not always certain that all MOOCs provide degrees, certificates and/or diplomas which limits the number of candidates that enrol for these courses as many companies ask for records of the education levels achieved and candidates are unable to provide them with the same. It is imperative that institutions like IITs, IISc, NITs and other leading universities in India disseminate teaching/learning content of high quality through all available media like virtual classrooms.

The University intends to implement the above in cooperation with firms having adequate expertise and experience in the field. Therefore, only qualified organizations having capabilities to manage end-to-end operations are encouraged to submit their proposals/bids.

The Intent of this Expression of Interest is (EOI) is to shortlist the interested bidders/agencies capable of providing services for Supply, Installation Testing and Commissioning (SITC) of Various Equipment's for GNDU Campus. The prospective bidders are also required to provide professional man power for functioning and operationalization of setup.
